RISARC PRESIDENT AND CEO RICHARD STEPHENSON TO SPEAK AT INTERNATIONAL FINANCE CORPORATION PRIVATE PARTNERSHIP CONFERENCE IN SOUTH SUDAN

- Stephenson will discuss use of wireless and cloud-based technologies to speed health information and emergency response in South Sudan.
- Conference workshops, organized by the International Finance Corporation, will advise ministers and directors of new South Sudan government.
- Stephenson founded RISARC, whose cloud-based software applications and systems support some of the largest private and public health care providers in the United States.

Stephenson says “The eyes of the world are on South Sudan and it is an extraordinary privilege and honor to be asked by the International Finance Corporation to participate in this esteemed conference.”

BURBANK, Ca January 23rd, 2012 Richard Stephenson, President and CEO of RISARC, will address an international conference on public and private partnerships in Juba, the capitol of the new nation of South Sudan, on January 26th. RISARC is the premier supplier of high technology revenue recovery and reimbursement systems to leading healthcare providers in the United States.

Stephenson, RISARC’s founder, will join workshop sessions of the conference on January 25 and 26, organized by the International Finance Corporation, which is a member of the World Bank Group. The conference will advise ministers and directors of the new government on the financing, structuring and implementing of initiatives in health, energy and mining sectors of South Sudan.

Said Stephenson: “We will be discussing ways that the government of South Sudan and private entrepreneurs might combine to use modern technologies to leapfrog over conventional systems to deploy and deliver effective healthcare.”

The International Finance Corporation, a member of the World Bank Group, is the largest global development institution focused exclusively on the private sector. The IFC helps developing countries achieve sustainable growth by financing investment, providing advisory services to businesses and governments, and mobilizing capital in the international financial markets.

Added Stephenson: “The eyes of the world are on South Sudan and it is an extraordinary privilege and honor to be asked by the International Finance Corporation to participate in this esteemed conference. We are excited about the opportunity to discuss how a health information super highway can be put to use in the nation to accelerate the delivery of health information in South Sudan.”
